"Billy," I feel for you, but I can't reach you," mused Frank Killen, lately deposed slacker of the Indianapolis team from the press box at Washington Park, yesterday. Killen was playing the role of a spectator and took a great interest in the awful slaughter of Carrick's curve. It reminded the ex-Indianapolis pitcher of the dose he received at Columbus earlier in the week when the Senators found his curves for twenty-two safe hits. Carrick was given so many bumps that a phenom would have had hard work trying to tell him his future life. Indianapolis dumped hits in all parts of the lot, registering a total of twenty-one safe ones, for an aggregate of twenty-seven bases and won the game by a score of 15 to 1.

A large crowd was present and enjoyed the bombardment. Carrick, it is said, made the game decidedly one-sided. McPartlin, secured later from the Columbus team, was on the slab for Indianapolis. He resembles the once famous Amos Russe and his work against the Toledo aggregation was in strong contrast to that of Carrick. McPartlin had excellent control and all the visitors who were in the press box for four innings nothing like a hit was secured off his delivery, but in the fifth Toledo found him for two singles, which, with O'Brien's error, gave the visitors their only tally.

Several fast plays were made during the game, but the few sensational features were forgotten as the wonderful feat of the Indianapolis pitcher, who held the attention of the spectators. In two innings, the third and the sixth, Indianapolis made a total of fourteen hits off Carrick and scored eleven of them. The Mud Hens cut little figure in the score, as Indianapolis earned two errors of the Mud Hens.

FOX'S REMARKABLE CATCH.
 O'Brien, Fox and Heydon made some very remarkable catches in the game. Fox's effort in pulling down Bernard's fly to short center in the eighth being the most sensational play of the game. Heydon's catch of Connors' ball in the ninth was also a notable feat.

McPartlin opened well and retired the Mud Hens in the first inning without a score. Smith flew to O'Brien and Bernard sliced the May zephyrs. McPartlin pitched an in-shoot that came at least four inches from striking O'Brien. He retired the first two batters, O'Brien and Bernard, and then he retired the third, Connors. He retired the fourth, Connors, and then he retired the fifth, Connors. He retired the sixth, Connors, and then he retired the seventh, Connors. He retired the eighth, Connors, and then he retired the ninth, Connors.

The third inning witnessed the undoing of Billy Carrick, the champions taking a lead in the last half after McPartlin had retired two Mud Hens on strikes and Smith flew to O'Brien. Heydon began the bombardment by hitting Carrick for two bases. Fox beat out a bunt, and Jones's single scored Heydon. Kilm's bunt scored Connors. Heydon's single scored Connors. Heydon's single scored Connors. Heydon's single scored Connors.

The third inning witnessed the undoing of Billy Carrick, the champions taking a lead in the last half after McPartlin had retired two Mud Hens on strikes and Smith flew to O'Brien. Heydon began the bombardment by hitting Carrick for two bases. Fox beat out a bunt, and Jones's single scored Heydon. Kilm's bunt scored Connors. Heydon's single scored Connors. Heydon's single scored Connors.

Only three men faced McPartlin in the fourth, and he retired them all. With two out in the last half, Connors, muffed Connors's fly, Connors going to second. He scored on O'Brien's single. Toledo scored the first run and first hit in the fifth. Blankenship singled, Owens struck out, and Connors went to second. With two out in the last half, Connors, muffed Connors's fly, Connors going to second. He scored on O'Brien's single. Toledo scored the first run and first hit in the fifth. Blankenship singled, Owens struck out, and Connors went to second.

After Toledo scored in the sixth, the champions added another tally to their half. Singles by Fox, Jones, Kilm, Coulter and O'Brien started the half. Carrick caught Tammett's fly and doubled Coulter at second. Heydon hit to left for two bases completing the willow work.

Captain Fox booted and fumbled Owens's effort in the seventh and Connors flew to O'Brien. A moment later Butler hit to O'Brien forcing Owens at second. Carrick singled, but Smith fouled to Heydon. After Heydon fouled out in the seventh, Fox hit safely and stole second and third. He scored on Kilm's hit to Bernard.

Toledo tried again in the eighth and failed. Blankenship started the half with a single, but the next three men were easily retired. The score: Indianapolis, 15; Toledo, 7.

The Indianapolis champions leave on their first long Western trip in first place, having climbed back to the first rung of the ladder yesterday by defeating Toledo and through the kindness of Kansas City taking a game from Milwaukee. Just how well the Hoosiers will defend their position awaits to be seen, but it is not believed that they will lose much ground while abroad. Indianapolis was scheduled at home to-day, but the injunction case has not been settled, and the game was transferred to Toledo. From Toledo the champions go to Milwaukee, where they open a four-game series on Tuesday. They will visit the other Western cities before returning home on June 5 for a long series at home. The series at Milwaukee will have a great deal to do with the position Indianapolis will hold during the Western trip.

The team is not in the best of condition, and this is probably very well known. The weak spots are in the pitching department, where there are a few sore arms. Kellum is in perfect condition, and will probably pitch the first game at Milwaukee. McPartlin demonstrated yesterday that his arm is in pretty fair shape, notwithstanding he is looked upon as a never-prosperer. He pitched a good game, but of shape, and Newlin and Williams are suffering with sore arms. Williams has been out of shape for two weeks, and his arm has been so sore that he has been unable to do much practicing. He expects to return to the team again within a week. Manager Watkins is not discouraged by any means, as he expects his men to be in winning condition within a few days.
